Caritas Tajikistan does more social work with migrants

For CT December was quite busy time on social reintegration work with migrants as there were several cases of repatriation of migrants from Europe. Four returnees came back from Germany and two from Netherlands.

Caritas Tajikistan cooperated with Micado Migration and Refugee Council of Netherland supporting reintegration of those returnees back in homeland. Essential part of this social reintegration work that CT is working on is guiding and supporting returnees in making choice regarding finding right engagement after coming back home. Most popular engagements for returnees in this context, for some reasons, are taxi services, reconstruction business and, on the odd occasion, farming to generate income. Often, priority is given to the businesses giving income in shortest period. Caritas makes sure that fosterlings know and consider marketing and legal aspects of the certain business. Part of the support they receive is to helping them in developing a business plan for organizing their small business and facilitation and accompaniment in obtaining funds the supporting agencies. Next to that we monitor purposeful and efficient use of received funds according to their plans and requirements of donors.

Project Waste management in Jomi district is ending

From the beginning of 2019 CT started realization of project - "Improving Public Waste Management in Jomi". This project become for CT a kind of turning point in WASH program of CT because it started activities in the relatively new field for CT- waste management and enrolment care. We are delighted that this project aligns with Laudato Si (The Pope's inspirational Encyclical on the Environment).

During work of this project one remote district in the south of Tajikistan was guided and supported on right and efficient functioning with waste and environment care. The project helped to enhance capacity of the institution responsible for waste management in the district, introduced process of basic waste reusing and recycling, several public and school based waste collections were rehabilitated, population and schoolchildren trained to basics of 3R of waste management and good practices on it. All this allowed the project to improve public waste management and health of population in the target area and more importantly improve environment care.
